

Maestro Katumwa Jazz'es Daystar

Jazz maestro Isaiah Katumwa performing a piece with his soprano saxophone.

Celebrated African Jazz musician Isaiah Katumwa, launched his East African tour christened "This Is Me" at Daystar University, Nairobi Campus on Thursday 14th, July 2016.

The Christian Ugandan artist has been in the music industry for over 20 years, with his name featuring in both African and international scenes for his prowess on the saxophone.

As a self-trained artist and as a Christian who is not ashamed to share Christ wherever he goes, Isaiah Katumwa was the perfect artist to share with the students. He gave the story of how he successfully managed to juggle between music as a promising career and his high school studies. Isaiah Katumwa also encouraged the budding artists to make sure they put into practice what they learn. He emphasized that the students should take advantage of the lecturers willing to help them in starting of their careers, as this is an opportunity that not all artists get.

Mr. Katumwa spoke of the African roots of Jazz music as rhythm, percussion, dance and spirituality, which soothes the mind and gives one the urge to stand up and move to the beat. Mr. Katumwa addressed some key points for the music students and those aspiring to venture into the music industry, telling the audience that we all need to celebrate our own East African music and also ensure that in our compositions, we produce a sound that reflects our uniqueness as Africans.

The exciting event was organized by the Department of Language and Performing Arts, led by Dr. Wandia Njoya (HOD Languages and Performing Arts), in conjunction with Diamond Media. Other faculty present included Evelyne Ogari, Muthoni Njenga and Kefa Kariuki from LPA, and Wambui Wamuyu from the Department of Communication. Music students present came from Daystar, Kenya Conservatoire of Music, Ghetto Classics, Sauti Academy and Kenyatta University.

Other partners who supported the event were Urban Bites manufacturers - Norda Industries, and Coca-Cola bottlers.

ILPD initiates Theology of Christian Ministry Module

Vice Chancellor, Dr. Timothy Wachira engages trainees during their maiden Theology of Christian Ministry class.

ILPD Module 7 of Executive Diploma in Theology for Ministry kicked off on Thursday 14th 2016 in Nairobi campus.

The module is set to cover 'Church Management and Administration' for a period of one month. The Vice Chancellor Dr. Timothy Wachira started the team with 'Biblical Foundation of Management'.

Using practical examples he centered his presentation on the scriptural fact that the earth and all that dwell in it are the Lord's. He helped participants appreciate that there should be no dichotomy and that the church and all other enterprises should be managed in ways that glorify God.

This course is open to all in the Christian faith who work as professionals in the corporate world as well as in the Church. It is well crafted for those who are active in the market place and also serve in the Church as elders, deacons, counsellors, pastors' spouses, or pastors who have a desire for a deeper theological understanding.

Kindly note that there are still some slots still available if you have been seeking such an opportunity to grow in your theological knowledge. Contact the ILPD office ilpd@daystar.ac.ke for more information.

Basketball 2016 Floodiez Plays Out

All eyes on the ball as DUSA Nairobi and DUSA Athi River battle it out.

Students turned up in large numbers for the annual Daystar Basketball Floodies 2016 tournament on Wednesday 13th July 2016 at the Basketball Court in Athi River Campus.

The much anticipated duel between DUSA Valley Road Campus versus DUSA Athi-River was the curtain raiser match. Other teams in the tourney included the continuing students' basketball team - New team, Alumni - Previous team, International Students - ISADU team, Kenya - All Star East, All Star West, and the Off-Campus team.

The teams participated in shooting and dunking showdowns as well as full matches. The main event match pitted a Kenya-Select team against the International Students Basketball Team which ended 33 - 32 in favor of ISADU.

According to DUSA executives, this event was aimed at uniting the students and staff through sports and recreation. Mr. Noah Muhindi

- Sports Secretar, Athi River Campus, was optimistic to the idea of holding such events in the future, with a view of integrating other sports. "We would love to partner with our sister Campus Daystar Valley road in more events to come and with the support of fellow students, the administration, combined with the favour of God we will be able to achieve more," he added.

Addressing the students during the occasion Mr. Wayne Ongara - DUSA Sports Secretary, Valley Road Campus, highlighted the long term plans they have as a sporting fraternity and requested the students to support the same. He was hopeful in acquiring and establishing a Sports Scholarship Fund that would aid the needy students in our society who are academically astute and sportingly gifted. He concluded with an encouraging remark, "It is incumbent upon us therefore as an institution and as the sporting fraternity to try as much as possible to ensure that we create a platform for the budding talents within the premises of our school to allow them to keep thriving."
